Crash Kills Two
Near Allentown

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A truck rammed a skidding automobile broadside on Route 309 near Lanark Wednesday, killing the car driver and his passenger. State police identified the victims from cards in their pockets as Wilbert A. Hensinger, the driver, and Joseph Turner, both of Allentown. The driver of the truck, Ronald Sames, was unhurt.

Striking Seamen
Ordered To Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Striking West Coast merchant seamen were ordered back to work Wednesday by Federal Judge George B. Harris, who issued a temporary restraining order under the Taft-Hartley Act. Judge Harris ordered a return to the "status quo" and directed attorneys for the three striking unions and the Pacific Maritime Association, representing 12 companies, to return Monday for a hearing on a petition for an injunction. But he made it clear he would issue the injunction. The hearing will be to determine specific terms.

Senate Confirms
White As Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed 85 to 0 Wednesday a bill to authorize the military to acquire approximately $13 billion worth of missiles, aircraft, ships and other defense hardware. The bill now goes back to the House, which can accept the Senate version or assign it to a conference committee to resolve differences. As it passed the Senate, the bill includes $320 million more than the Kennedy administration asked to push development of the RSTO supersonic reconnaissance strike aircraft. The administration had asked only $171 million for this project, but it has promised to restudy the whole matter.

Art Treasures
Are Recovered

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—The entire thieves haul of eight Paul Cezanne paintings, valued at $2 million, has been recovered from the back seat of an abandoned automobile, police announced Wednesday. Police had been watching the car—stolen and left in the street with a broken window and false license plates—since Monday night in the hope the thieves would show up. The paintings had been detached from their frames and rolled up but were in perfect condition, art experts said.

ICC Approves
Pennsy Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission, saying the transaction "would be beneficial to the public, approved Wednesday the Pennsylvania Railroad's proposal to gain control of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. The Pennsylvania, which already owns 44.4 per cent of Lehigh stock in trust arrangements, was authorized to obtain control by exchanging one share of its own capital stock for each two and three-eighths shares of Lehigh stock. The Pennsylvania applied to the ICC Jan. 30, 1961, for permission to make the deal. It said it wanted to protect its investment in Lehigh and to help survive its present emergency.

Senate Approves
Money For Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed by voice vote Wednesday President Kennedy's nomination of Byron R. (Whizzer) White to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court. Only Wednesday morning, the Senate Judiciary Committee had recommended approval after a brief hearing. White, 44, a deputy attorney general, was questioned only briefly. As witnesses lauded him as exceptionally well-qualified to serve on the nation's highest court, White's wife listened from a front row seat in the crowded hearing room. White doodled on a note pad and smoked cigarettes.

Fired Cashier
Admits Perjury

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — George J. Daileda, fired as a cashier of the First National Bank of Exeter, testified Wednesday he had committed perjury in previous testimony about August J. Lippi's connection with the Knox Coal Co. Daileda told a federal jury trying the Knox tax evasion case that he had personally cashed checks issued by Knox for more than $35,000 in 1956 and 1957, and turned the money over to Lippi. He said he lied repeatedly about the checks in testimony at trials in 1960 in which Lippi was a defendant and before a grand jury investigating the Knox firm's taxes.

Pupils Run Wild:

Teachers' Strike Cripples
New York City's Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—More than half of the city's teachers struck for higher pay Wednesday, badly crippling the New York City public school system, the nation's largest. A court order late in the day forbade further picketing. Idle students by the thousands ran wild in school buildings and rampaged through the streets, as normal standards of classroom discipline collapsed. Nearly a score of schools were closed tight, with their thousands of pupils sent home. Countless others went through the motions of holding classes.

The first full-scale teachers strike in the history of New York City was branded by Board of Education President Max Rubin as "reckless, irresponsible, a betrayal of a pledge, immoral and illegal." School Supt. John J. Theobald announced that all schools will be open Thursday, but that he could not guarantee they would remain open. An antipicketing order was signed by State Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht Jr., after Rubin told him the strike if extended "will be a disaster for the New York City school system."

Hecht scheduled a hearing Friday to determine if he will issue a formal antipicketing injunction to replace his temporary restraining order. The Board of Education made public plans to use the order as a prelude to enforcement of a state law prohibiting strikes by public employees. With removal of the pickets, teachers will be expected to return to their classrooms. If they refuse, they will forfeit their jobs under the state law. More than half of the city's 40,000 public school teachers were absent from their classrooms, disrupting an educational system with a million pupils. Parochial and private schools were not affected.

'Explosion' Still A Mystery

MORE THAN 24 hours after a mysterious blast rocked large sections of Monroe County and adjacent areas Tuesday night there was still no official explanation of what happened last night. Most popular theories were that a plane had broken the sound barrier or that the disturbance was the result of an earth tremor in Vermont. Military and civilian airports reported, however, that they knew of no planes in the vicinity. And the Associated Press, as reported in yesterday's Daily Record, limited the effect of the earth tremors in Vermont to that state and parts of New Hampshire and New York. Whatever it was, it shook homes throughout the area. Many callers said their initial reaction was that their oil burner had exploded. Most residents who flooded police stations and newspapers with telephone calls reported only one shock. But some West End home owners reported there were two shocks, separated by about a second.

Sauer Named Second In Command Of State Police

HARRISBURG (AP) — Capt. George M. Sauer, a career officer in the state police force with service dating back to 1929, became second in command of the department Wednesday. He was appointed by Commissioner Frank G. McCartney to fill a vacancy created last Oct. 19 by the resignation of Charles Hartman, who quit unexpectedly in a policy dispute with the commissioner. The 59-year-old Sauer has been head of state police detectives since that bureau was re-activated in August 1960.

In announcing the appointment, the commissioner said Sauer would be elevated to the rank of lieutenant colonel. The post carries an annual salary of $13,500. "Capt. Sauer is one of the department's most outstanding officers," said McCartney in a statement, "respected throughout the force and the entire police profession." Prior to assuming command of the detective bureau, Sauer had been commander of Troop C at Reading.

Report Some Prisoners To Be Liberated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile physician said he was told by a friend in Havana Wednesday that arrangements have been made to liberate all Cuban invasion prisoners and send them to Miami by Saturday. Garcia Montes declined to name the source of his information but said it came via telephone from Havana. He said his son, Gustavo Garcia Montes Jr., a lawyer, is among those repatriated. Garcia Montes said he understood 34 men captured last April 17 in the Bay of Pigs invasion in southern Cuba would be freed. Garcia Montes said, "I hope it is only the beginning and all the boys soon will be liberated — including my son." The Cuban doctor's disclosure came after Havana reports that an agreement of undisclosed nature had been reached between Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and a committee of Miami Cuban exiles who went to Havana Tuesday to bargain for the freedom of 1,179 invasion prisoners held for $62 million ransom.

Kennedy Terms Steel Price Hike 'Irresponsible Defiance'

PICKETS WHITE HOUSE—Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the Cleveland industrialist, is wheeled along the picket line as she participates in a protest march in front of the White House in Washington. The group of women, picketing on Pennsylvania Avenue in the rain, were trying to see President Kennedy to discuss their activities in Geneva, Switzerland, where they talked with delegates at the disarmament conference. ## Steel Companies Follow The Leader

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five big steel producers hiked their prices Wednesday in line with a $6-a-ton increase announced earlier by U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's pace setter. They are Bethlehem Steel Corp., No. 2; Republic Steel Corp., No. 3; Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., No. 4; Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., No. 7, and Wheeling Steel Corp., the nation's 11th ranking steel maker. The city claimed it could scrape up no more than $28 million for the teachers. At the same time, other steel firms said they plan to study the situation and at least one hinted broadly it may follow suit. The steel price hike coming on the heels of a labor settlement labeled as non-inflationary triggered a shock wave of protests in the nation's capital. The labor contracts provided an estimated 10-cents-an-hour in the new fringe benefits. President Kennedy lashed out sharply at the price increases in a Washington news conference. He called them "a wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the nation's interest."

Higher Prices All Around The hikes will jack up prices on homes, autos, appliances and other items for every American family, Kennedy said. All of the price increases come out to roughly 3.5 per cent, or three-tenths of a cent per pound of steel. The average price of a ton of steel had been a little more than $150. The increases were the first general price hikes since 1958. Meanwhile, President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union, denied that the price increases were triggered by higher labor costs. Good Morning! A budget seems to act like a corset — you take care of the bulge in one place and it pops out in another.

Lenten Meditation

By Bruce J. Fox, Pastor
Seventh-Day Adventist Church
Stroudsburg

At once the minds of men thus disturbed sought to answer the question, to resolve the dilemma. The mind, exploiting its power to recall, assimilate, synthesize, correlate, and interpret swings into action. It summons up the odd bits of information collected in the three years that the name of Jesus of Nazareth had gained something of a reputation. He recalled that he was a carpenter's son, had a reputation as a miracle worker, consorted with sinners and tax collectors (much games, housewives sweeping the pavement — just anyone and everyone who caught a glimpse of that weird procession led by Jesus of Nazareth who staggers under his cross. For just an instant they cease their bargaining, pause in their play, lean on their brooms, and look upon a scene somehow strangely detached from reality, a scene half out of focus, a scene which has a phantom-like quality to it. A few hurry to the line of march. But for most there is just a glance, and then it's business as usual. But during that brief pause an astonishing, almost instantaneous process has taken place in the mind. In effect, because fate had decreed that they would come this day into close proximity to Jesus of Nazareth, the question had been raised in their minds: "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?"

Steel, Reserve Releases Are Top Items At News Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy announced Wednesday that barring serious deterioration in the world situation, 155,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists called to active military duty last fall will be released in August. Kennedy made the announcement at a news conference at which he also: Denounced the steel price increases made by major companies, saying their action constitutes an "irresponsible defiance of the nation's interest."

armed might. Among other things, two new regular divisions have been formed. The men released, Kennedy said, will be on a standby basis, in a new and heightened state of readiness, in case the need should arise to call them again. Services Stronger The regular services are now much stronger than when the Reserves were called up at the height of the Berlin crisis and dangers in Southeast Asia, he said. A year ago there were only 11 combat ready divisions but now there are 15. The President expressed hearty thanks to the Reservists, a relatively few of whom have staged "We want out" demonstrations. The whole news conference tended to revolve around the steel price increase. The matter kept coming up even in relation to other subjects. For instance, Kennedy was asked whether he did not feel, in view of apparent easing of the Berlin crisis, that servicemen could now be permitted to have their wives and families overseas. The President said the administration still was trying to correct the outflow of gold resulting from the U.S. balance of payments of deficit, and the wives would have to stay at home for a time yet. If the steel industry's action results in a further increase in the payments deficit, he said, the hardship upon service families would have to be further prolonged. In relation to steel prices, the President was asked whether, in view of his strong statement, he thought strong action was needed, such as wage-price controls? Kennedy said this is a free country, and the steel companies were free to do as they pleased. As for action, he said, the administration is considering what needs to be done. The Justice Department, he said, was looking into the steel problems. 'Great Power Misused' Kennedy said he's interested in the investigations proposed by some members of the House and Senate, and once again he spoke of his feeling that great power has been misused. There was some indication Kennedy felt he should have more advance word than he did receive of U.S. Steel's decision to raise prices. Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, called at the White House about 6 p.m. Tuesday and gave him the word. In response to questions, Kennedy said there had been no prior consultation about the price rise with the administration. He said he was informed of the price increase after the news went to the papers. He said he told Blough he was much disappointed, and hoped other companies would not follow suit. The President put in here that he was looking into a purported statement by the president of Bethlehem Steel that there should not be a price rise. He said he noted the steel official later said he was misquoted. Answers Questions Kennedy was asked if, since he thinks the new steel prices may send the cost of living up, he feels the steelworkers are now entitled to an increase in pay. The President said that the union contract has been signed, and the steelworkers will now have to live with it. What about regulations of steel prices, like regulation of public utilities, as suggested by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Kennedy was asked. Kennedy declined to be drawn into a discussion of whether there was "political discrimination" in the industry's decision to raise prices regardless of his hold-the-line appeal. The President said this was immaterial. Even if the decision was taken to spite him, he said, this would not matter in comparison with the larger issues at stake. Did Not Increase Price The question apparently was prompted by the fact that the industry did not increase its prices after the much larger settlement that emerged from the 116-day strike in 1959. That settlement was engineered by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and James P. Mitchell, the secretary of labor in the Eisenhower administration. A questioner reminded the President that in some cases where similar bids were entered for government purchases the government was a matter of policy favors the smaller company. Kennedy broke in to say he hopes there will be steel companies which will "not participate in this parade" but choose not to raise prices. But he said the increases were coming in fast.

News Conference Highlights

Other subjects touched on at the half-hour, nationally televised meeting with reporters: ATTACK ALARM — Kennedy was asked about a false alarm by the Strategic Air Command last year. Did he think he should have been notified? The President said the situation had been overstated. He said it would have taken some time for the planes to have taken off, and that the alarm lasted only for a few seconds. He said he thought that proper action was taken by the air command. CLAY — The President was asked to interpret his decision to allow Gen. Lucius D. Clay to return from his post in Berlin. Kennedy said Clay had been asked to remain only until January, Clay will continue to give the administration the benefit of his consultation on Berlin problems, he added, and in all likelihood will be as valuable here as on the troubled Berlin scene. CUBA — There has been a price increase there, too, Kennedy was told, in the price put on the captured prisoners. Did he have any comment? Kennedy said Prime Minister Fidel Castro knows this government can't engage in bargaining for the prisoners, nor can the relatives of those who were captured raise the sort of money Castro asked. He said that Castro was released by the Batista administration after he had served 15 months for revolutionary activity, yet he deals out sentences of 30 years. All this, Kennedy says, shows Castro is increasingly isolated in the company of free men. NEW GUINEA — Kennedy was asked to clarify the U.S. position in the dispute over West New Guinea between the Netherlands and Indonesia, in view of the criticism of U.S. policy in the matter. Kennedy said the role of the mediator was not a happy one, and that no one is happy with its moves, but the United States is prepared "to make everybody mad if it makes some progress." GOULART — Kennedy said, in response to a question, that what President Joao Goulart of Brazil told him during a visit here agrees generally with a Brazilian-Mexican joint statement of non-intervention in Communist and anti-Communist conflicts. He said, however, he has not yet seen the joint statement. JAPANESE AWARD — Kennedy was asked why a Japanese officer, who had planned the Pearl Harbor attack in 1941, received the Legion of Merit award from the United States. The President said he thought the decoration was appropriate in view of the nation's current relations with Japan and the distinction of the officer in question.

Russia Shrugs Off Answer To West

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union shrugged off a warning from President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to accept an enforceable test ban treaty or see new U.S. nuclear blasts in the atmosphere before the month is out. In an appearance Wednesday before the 17-nation general disarmament conference, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin carefully refrained from committing his government to any positive response. Instead, Zorin went to the diplomatic offensive and assailed as unrealistic and unnecessary the demand for cheat-proof international control arrangements. "There is no justification whatsoever for the United States to resume tests in the atmosphere," he declared. Zorin repeated that the Soviet government still believes that existing national instrument systems are adequate to check on test ban violations. The joint statement Kennedy and Macmillan issued Tuesday was read into the disarmament conference record by American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean. Differences Outlined In a carefully worded speech, Dean defined the differences separating the Russians from the Americans and British. He called on the Kremlin to show some reasonableness, flexibility and political sense. Dean also sought to kill off Moscow's professed fear that the Western powers plan to pervert international control arrangements to espionage. Proposed arrangements have been so worked out, he said, that at no time would international personnel be free to move about inside the Soviet Union except under the most rigidly defined and restricted conditions. Dean recalled that the Soviet Union broke the old three-year moratorium on tests by setting off a series of massive explosions last autumn. He said the Russians might attempt the clandestine violation of a nuclear test ban treaty.

Science At Work Sabotage Of Insect Pests

By The Associated Press
Biological sabotage of insect pests, a search for X-rays from space, and a question of gravity are topics of science at work: Sabotage.

Screw-worm flies, a costly livestock pest, are being sabotaged by the atomic age.

Radiation is used to sterilize males which then are released. Since these flies mate only once, any female taking up with a sterile male doesn't produce any offspring.

But it's been difficult to distinguish between treated flies and wild ones, to know how well the sterile ones were being distributed. Now Dr. Elbert B. Dixon of the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Kerrville, Tex., proposes a solution. He suggests sterilizing only males which have a distinguishing genetic trait, such as wing spurs for example, so they can be followed more easily.

Star X Rays
Next summer, scientists plan to search for soft X Rays coming from stars. It will be done with special instruments carried aloft in rockets launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The sun is known to emit soft X Rays from its superhot corona, and presumably other stars do, also. These X Rays don't harm anyone on earth, for they are easily blocked out by the earth's atmosphere. They are far less penetrating than the X Rays used medically.

Weakened Gravitation?
Space science experiments should be able to answer the question whether gravitation is growing weaker with time.

Most physicists think it is quite constant, but a few disagree, including Dr. Robert H. Dicke of Princeton University. As the universe expands with time, the strength of gravitational interaction may decrease steadily, says Dr. Dicke. The strength of gravitation may be related to the structure of the universe, rather than being fixed. Various experiments with satellites could check this out within the next five years, he adds.

'Y' Offers SCUBA Course

ARRANGEMENTS were made yesterday between John R. Wilson, general secretary of Monroe County YMCA, and Bruce R. Couillard to conduct a course in SCUBA diving at the YMCA each Monday night for the next 12 weeks.

Couillard will instruct the course. Couillard is a full-time school teacher in the public schools of Blairstown, N.J., and operator of the Moravian Church Camp at Hope, N.J., during the summer, where he specializes in SCUBA training. Many people have completed the course under his supervision.

All those interested are requested to be present in the YMCA gymnasium Monday night, April 16, at 7:30. Additional information may be obtained by calling the YMCA, HA 1-2525, where registrations for the course will also be accepted.

The meeting on April 16 will be an exploratory meeting. Couillard will outline the course and the necessary requirements as far as physical condition and swimming skills are concerned.

Anyone desiring to attend the meeting may do so without obligation.

Hospital Head Seeks State Aid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The president of the Delaware Valley Hospital said Wednesday the state should be responsible for losses suffered by hospitals for indigent care.

Clarence A. Warden Jr., also said some member hospitals are considering turning away indigent patients because losses were so high.

At a State Welfare Commission hearing, Warden said 51 member hospitals last year lost nearly $15 million. The loss was above the $3,685,803 paid to them by the state for indigent care, he said.

Warden said, "the private paying patient has been unfairly taxed, and his bill increased, thus shifting part of the load unjustly to sick people... certainly some hospitals are faced with considering the sad choice of refusing to accept indigent or medically indigent patients unless the state government meets its responsibilities."

A number of other civic groups and agencies testified.

$15,000 Fire At Bushkill Market

BUSHKILL — Fire, believed the result of defective electrical equipment, caused an estimated $15,000 damage to James Coco's Fruit and Produce Market, one and one-fourth miles west of here on Route 209, at 12:45 a.m. yesterday.

The loss included a 53 by 15 foot, one-story concrete and frame building containing produce and meat cases and refrigerator units. The 25 men who fought the blaze for three hours under Bushkill Fire Chief Walter P. Bensley managed to save a frame addition to the building.

Disrupts Phone Service
Heat from the blaze disrupted telephone service and knocked out this village's fire alarm system briefly, but service was soon restored.

Insurance adjusters, visiting the scene of the fire yesterday, praised the local department for its quick action which resulted in saving the addition to the main building.

The fire was reported by Arthur Garris, Jr., a Bushkill resident who was returning from work in Stroudsburg. The loss is believed partially covered by insurance.

Storm Or Flood Damages Deductible

R. P. BROWNELL, District Director of Internal Revenue, Scranton District, stated yesterday that Scranton District taxpayers who own property located in any of the following states may have a deduction for property damaged by the recent storms or floods that occurred earlier this year.

The states are: New York,

New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, Kentucky, Idaho, Nevada and California.

A recent Internal Revenue Service announcement cited the new law, signed by President Kennedy on March 31, 1962, which permits taxpayers who have suffered property damage from storms and floods earlier this year to deduct the casualty losses on their 1961 tax returns.

Internal Revenue Service said the new special treatment is limited to taxpayers whose property is in an area that has been determined by the President to warrant Federal disaster assistance. Casualty losses on property located in Pennsylvania would not come under the new law; however, Scranton District taxpayers who own property located in the disaster areas mentioned above may deduct the casualty losses on their 1961 tax returns.

Taxpayers who have already filed their 1961 tax returns may file amended returns to claim their losses, Mr. Brownell said.

Survey On How To Pick 'Man'

East Stroudsburg

By Nancy Bitterman
And Ron Fish

A RECENT survey was taken to discover the qualities the junior girls look for in the boys they plan to marry. There were many different ideas presented, but all their ideas had some common foundation.

The main qualities that every girl agreed upon was "consideration" and "showing respect." These seemed to be the most desired—after "love."

After these came "a nice personality." Next was the desire to find a boy with "a sense of humor." And he must be able to get along with others.

Another point that entered into the discussion was religion. Nearly every girl mentioned this. It is a point they feel must be considered because many marriages go on the rocks via this phase. Parents and families disapprove of marriages many times because of the different religious backgrounds.

One girl was quoted as saying, "We should have the same interests." This seems to be important because neither one can give up life-long interests just because the one partner isn't interested in a project.

Other big considerations is that he must love children and he must like to have them around the house; must never lose his temper; must never scream or raise his voice at the wife or the children; must be in good health and have the desire to keep his good health.

The ideal man must have a sense of honesty and truthfulness. He must have a keen sense of responsibility as far as a decent job is concerned. He must have the ambition to get ahead and not stay at the bottom of the ladder all his life.

These are the qualities the girls expect in the man they hope to marry. Maybe the fellows they pick will not have all of these attributes but the girls have decided to settle for half of them.

Stroud Union

By CAROL ANN SABINSKY
A GROUP of 38 seniors from Stroud Union High School toured New York City recently, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Smith and Ira Nagler.

The students spent the morning on Wall Street. They toured the New York Stock Exchange and learned of the complexity of stock market operations.

Later the group visited the New York office of Carl M. Loeb Rhoades and Company where they received a more detailed description of the activities of a stock broker.

The students lunched in Chinatown where seven telephone booths were designed in the form of pagodas.

Some of the students spent the afternoon at the Metropolitan Museum of Art while others toured the Museum of Natural History. Rembrandt's "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer," which recently made the headlines, was displayed in the lobby of Museum of Art. The picture is valued at two and a half million dollars.

The students also toured Greenwich Village, the Bowery, and Fifth Avenue.

Dilworth And Bloom Spar

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican state Chairman George I. Bloom said in a political campaign statement Wednesday that Richardson Dilworth, Democratic primary candidate for governor, is secretly courting "Philadelphia boss Bill Green."

Ever since the Democratic organization gave its backing to Dilworth, the Republican chairman declared, he has "not said one unkind word about boss Green."

Green is city Democratic chairman of Philadelphia and Dilworth resigned as mayor of that city to make the race for governor.

"Dilworth is hoping he can fool independent voters by resting on the much-publicized 'opposition' of Bill Green before he was slated at the Democrats' closed-door sessions at which Gov. Lawrence presided and issued the orders," said Bloom.

Sales Increase On Shell Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — James W. Walter, president of Jim Walter Corp., builder of shell homes, told the New York Society of Security Analysts that the firm's sales have increased steadily since it entered the partially finished home market and extended its credit terms early this year.

He said houses under construction rose from 248 on Feb. 3 to 451 by March 24.

New Oil Tanker

NEW YORK (AP) — Sinclair Refining Co. said a 4,000-ton, 330-foot long multiple-cargo tanker has been ordered for use in distribution of products from Sinclair's East Chicago refinery. Delivery is expected in early 1963.

The following church schedule of Holy Week services has been announced: Tuesday, April 17, at 7:45 p. m. the Rev. P. N. Wohlsten, D.D., Pastor Emeritus of St. John's, will conduct the Preparatory Service.

At 7:45 p. m. on Wednesday, April 18, there will be a service of Holy Communion with the Rev. Carl E. Koppenhaver in charge.

On Holy Thursday at the same hour there will be another Holy Communion service with the Rev. Theodore K. Finck, Litt. D., as the guest pastor.

E-L Hopes To Reduce Cash Losses

THE president of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad told stockholders this week the utility expects to reduce its losses by almost $6,000,000 in the first quarter of this year.

Milton G. McInnes told the annual meeting of stockholders the railroad expects a loss of $4,800,000 for the first quarter of 1962, compared to $10,500,000 in the same period last year.

"We think we have a good healthy life in the future," McInnes said in response to a suggestion from one stockholder that the railroad should liquidate its assets and give up its deficit-ridden operation.

McInnes predicted there will be some months this year in which the railroad will be in the black — a situation which has not occurred since December, 1959. He admitted that a deficit of about $6,000,000 is expected for all of 1962.

Last year which was the first full year of operation for the merged Erie and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroads produced a deficit of $26,488,000.

McInnes said that taking into account "the severity of the economic recession" last year was "a most inopportune time to be faced with the task of merging two properties of this size."

Truckers Renew Rails Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A group of trucking companies Wednesday renewed its nine-year effort to collect damages from 24 eastern railroads for a publicity campaign allegedly aimed against the trucking industry.

Harold E. Kohn, attorney for the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, asked District Judge Thomas J. Clary for an award of $217,358 in damages.

This time Kohn based his plea on common law. The supreme court has ruled there was no violation of the antitrust laws.

Kohn argued that the truckers still say "these people conspired to monopolize, conspired to hurt us and conspired to drive us out of business."

He asked Judge Clary to rule on the record.

Senate Approves Missile Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate gave top-heavy approval Wednesday to a $13-billion authorization for missiles, aircraft and naval vessels and sent it back to the House.

Included in the long list of military hardware was $20 million more than the administration asked to push development of a speedy, high-flying jet reconnaissance strike aircraft, known as the RS70.

Steel Increase Gets Scorching

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Joseph P. Molony, stated director of the United Steelworkers Union and chairman of its Bethlehem bargaining committee, called steel-price increases Wednesday "almost treasonable" in the light of current world conditions.

"I can assure you," he said, "that, if the steel union had called a strike this year in an effort to get a wage increase, 'treasonable' is the word that would have been used."

Molony's district includes 75,000 steelworkers.

Planning Seminar Set May 10

"BROADER horizons through community planning" is the theme of a Community Planning Seminar, to be held by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company on May 10, H.M. Scheiden, vice president of the utility's Lehigh Division announced yesterday.

Invitations for the seminar to be held at Genetti's Hotel, Hazleton, have been sent to Central Eastern Pennsylvania community leaders, directors of planning agencies, members of planning commissions and other civic officials.

"The purpose of the seminar," Scheiden said, "is not only to encourage community planning on a local, county and regional level, but to further familiarize those responsible for community planning with methods and practices in this field found successful by others."

Speaking at the seminar will be recognized experts in the field of community planning. They include: Francis A. Pitkin, executive director, State Planning Board; Mr. Harold F. Wise, city planning consultant, Philadelphia Industrial Development Corporation; and Mr. Peter A. Larson, executive director, Delaware County Planning Commission. Mr. Jack K. Busby, PP&L's president, and Mr. Ralph C. Swartz, PP&L vice president, Commercial, will also speak at the seminar.

Emmet M. Molloy, PP&L's manager, Area Development, will be the seminar chairman.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Well, I didn't fall flat on my face when I went up to collect my scroll and the bag of gold—actually, it was a leather purse emblazoned with the Cross of Pisa and filled with 22 gold pieces—from President Gronchi, who has a very sweet smile.

The purse has leather thongs that slip over the wrist, and the scroll was tied with a red ribbon so I could manage that, but the first thing they gave me at the reception which followed was two dozen of the long-stemmed, deepest-red, most velvety-textured roses I have ever seen, a real armload.

So there I stood like a horse in the winners circle while all around me they were passing the fanciest looking drinks and the prettiest canapes and me without even a spare finger. Besides, I was kept too busy answering the questions of newsmen: Was I really painting the house when I heard about the award? Did the fruit vendor really translate the letter for me? Was the orchid I was wearing sent from friends at home? Did I really pay my own way over?

I was finally rescued by Joe who in his capacity as representative of the American Ambassador had arranged through all the protocol which surrounds the President of the Republic to present me and my precious letter from Governor Lawrence.

The prize presentation was held in the Great Hall, the reception in an anteroom, and in an inner sanctum was President Gronchi, his guards, the Senators, Prefects, Generals and Ministers. And me, I carried that letter like a shield, which in truth it was, giving me an importance far beyond my own.

Once that was over and I had invited President Gronchi and all his compatriots to visit the Poconos any old time, I really relaxed. Nothing to do now but enjoy the dinner which was held on the outskirts of Pisa in, of all places, The California Motel.

Of course it made sense; they had shown us glories of their past, the modern apartment houses representing the present, and now an ultra-modern motel which, in Italy as in America, probably represents the tourists' future.

Without a worry in the world and with the representative of the Belgian Ambassador to amuse me with stories of his five children. "One too many" he kept insisting and when I challenged him "Which one?" he said "That's what my children always ask me: 'Which one, Daddy? Is it me?'" I was having a wonderful time.

When out of the blue, my own "one too many" time came. All the winners started making gracious speeches! What I said I shall never know, but they all clapped like mad, and then clapped again when our ever helpful friend from the Tourist Bureau translated my halting English into what must have been pretty elegant Italian because they all cried "Bene! Bene!"

Dedication For New Organ At Pocono Union

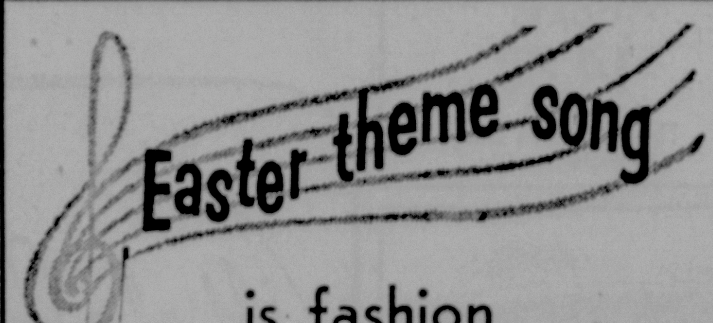

The new electronic organ will be dedicated at a special dedication service at the Pocono Union Church, Henryville on Sunday at 4 p.m. The organ was purchased by the Ladies Aid Society and members and friends of the church who contributed.

Rev. Karl Keller, pastor, will give the dedicatory sermon: "Look Who's Here", centering around worship.

Ernest Michelfelder, Stroudsburg, will be guest organist. The public is invited.

An old-fashioned device many modern cooks like to use: Cut a cake layer in half horizontally with a piece of heavy thread instead of a knife. Hold the thread taut and "saw" the cake with it. Takes two hands!

Had I suddenly sprouted wings and flown off to a place in glory, I could not possibly feel more jubilant than I do right now... and I am sure my feelings are shared by approximately forty co-workers and friends who constitute "The Women of Wyckoff's." This past Sunday, sixteen of us visited "our girls" at Hamburg State School and Hospital for the Mentally Retarded, and met with Lois Colley, the very charming supervisor of nursing. Miss Colley suggested that as part of our project at the hospital, we assume the purchase of a wheel chair for the ward we've taken under our wing, and also the purchase of draw draperies for the solarium where the patients watch television, and pretty colored bedsprades and valances for their ward windows.

At the moment, I saw no possible connection between that and the Home Economics Exhibit being conducted by students of Monroe County schools and the schools of Bangor, here in our Wyckoff store. Then Laura Halliday, supervisor of Home Economics in three counties, appeared on our Wyckoff Shopper radio program of Tuesday morning to talk about the show... and later, over coffee in our Tea Room, we began discussing the Hamburg girls. I mentioned the type of wheel chair we were seeking. One thing led to another, and first thing you know I discovered that Laura's husband, Jim, once was in the surgical supply business and knew exactly where to locate such a chair. A long distance call put us in contact with a very pleasant gentleman who knows Mr. Halliday, and who was able to fill our order to the letter at a nice saving to us. As a result, a wheel chair, priced at 110.50, will be delivered to "our girls" within the next two weeks.

This is one of the things we did with the 234.27 raised at our recent silver tea at the Methodist Church, plus the contributions so generously given us by those who couldn't attend. We have also set up a fund of $100.00 on interest, to be used at some future date as canteen money for the needy girls, in the event we must abandon our project. The balance, plus anything earned at our silver tea of this afternoon at Convention Lodge, Buck Hill, will go toward ward renovations, and we also gratefully acknowledge the gift of a painting of a little girl from the artist, Arthur Widmer, and a particularly beautiful copy of Salma's "Head of Christ," framed in gold leaf, from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff Sr., our store's ever-thoughtful "Papa and Mama." I feel that you, the public, are entitled to this report, for you were most generous and have expressed so very much interest. Incidentally, Miss Colley has asked me to tell you that on Sunday, May 6th, there will be Open House at Hamburg, and everyone who wishes may visit the hospital and inspect its buildings and grounds. The trip would be worth your while, for it does one's heart good to see the cleanliness, the homelike atmosphere, and the friendly spirit that are a part of this state-run institution.

As for the Home Economics Exhibit in our store... be sure to view the various exhibits and, if possible, to see the Fashion Show of prize-winning apparel made by the girls this Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Leisure Time activities and flower arrangements are exhibited in various store windows and banks around town, and at Wyckoff's. The cash awards will be made Friday evening in our store. Mrs. Halliday and the cooperating teachers deserve a great deal of credit for their work, and the girls themselves deserve a generous measure of praise for their talents and ingenuity.

Right this minute I'm convinced of just one thing: ours is a pretty wonderful world. I couldn't approve it more if everyone in it, including myself, wore a halo!

Evergreens For Homes

By George Abraham

THE most popular evergreens for the foundation planting today is the Japanese Yew. You'll be confused when you go to a nursery and see the jaw-breaking names given the various Yews, so I'll try to simplify the language. First, keep in mind there is an upright type, ideal for the corner of your foundation.

This upright Japanese Yew is tagged Taxus cuspidata capitata, the only true upright or pyramidal Yew. Then there's the common spreading Yew Taxus cuspidata, growing more wide than tall, fine for under windows. A narrow, upright Yew you'll see is Hicks' (Taxus hicksii), growing, and it can be trimmed into a desired shape and height. Others you'll find with long names, rather than short common names.

There's no point in a Latin lesson here, but if you're going to buy Japanese Yews, be sure to ask the dealer what type of growth the various varieties are. You wouldn't want to plant a row of uprights only in the foundation of your home.

A better effect is obtained by placing the taller types on the corners and spreading types beneath the window. Another way to handle corners of homes is to plant a tall type, surrounded by two spreading types in front.

Pruning: All Yews respond to several clippings or prunings in a year's time. If you like the sheared appearance, then use hedge shears and trim the bushes into the shapes you like. Upright types can be sheared into neat pyramidal growth and spreading types can be sheared into round (never square!) shapes.

If you like the loose informal appearance, then you "pluck" your plants. This consists of reaching in here and there and removing shoots.

JOHNNY APPLESEED: Is he fact or fiction? There was a fellow named John Chapman who loaded his leather saddle bags with apple seeds from a cider mill in Pennsylvania and scattered them wherever he went. Did he do any good for the apple industry? I doubt it.

His great value was on the romantic side, and makes a good story to everyone who does not understand how apples are propagated. Seeds he planted produced wild seedlings and so far as I know not one of them has been named. Your chances for getting a good apple from seed is about 1 in 10,000. Today's apples are produced by budding, grafting and by breeding. Johnny Appleseed's method of scattering seed all over was the same that birds have used for centuries.

Those apple trees (wild ones) you see in woods and in the country were started by birds which dropped the seeds. Have you ever seen an apple started this way which was fit to eat? Once in a while you do get such an apple which is a chance seedling, but it's rare. Most horticulturists today feel that Johnny Appleseed's horticultural exploits were applesauce, although he may have been a good frontiersman.

MOWING A LAWN: Keep cutting blades of both rotary and reel mowers sharp! Dull blades tear grass leaves, leaves the leaves with a grayish or "burned" cast.

RASPBERRIES: Want to avoid those tiny white worms you see inside fruit of raspberries? It's simple! When blossom buds first appear spray bushes with 50 per cent DDT powder, 2 oz. (or, 10 tablespoonfuls) in 5 gals. of water, and again just before blossoms open. Never spray during blossoming. Or you can use Ground Derris (4 per cent rotenone) 4 oz. to 5 gallons of water. Red Raspberries seem to be bothered more by the fruit worm than do blacks.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS: Gardeners who start their tubers in pots are vexed to find their plants spindly before they can set them outdoors. What causes them to be so spindly? Usually too much heat causes plants to grow tall, top-heavy and spindly. After growth starts you should try moving the plants to a cool room (55 degs. or so) for stockier plants.

The best spot for tuberous begonias outdoors is in some shade, away from hot noon day sun. Their ability to give brilliant displays of color for 3 months in fairly deep shade is one of their greatest assets. Keep seed pods removed since they produce incomplete, non-viable seeds. You'll prolong flowering if you remove spent blooms.

Complaints: Dropping of buds after they form. This is due to plants growing in too small pots, insufficient food, or severe drying out of soil. Lots of growth and no flowers comes from too much shade. Curled and shiny foliage is a sign of too strong sunlight, also so is scorched leaves.

Last year mildew was a problem in some areas. This causes a fuzzy white growth on the leaves. Keep moisture off foliage, and dust plants with sulfur or karathane.

SCENTED STOCK: Evening scented stock (Matthiola bicornis) has a lavender flower and emits a heavenly scent in the evening. The flowers are not nearly as attractive as the 10 weeks or giant imperial stock (Matthiola incana). Ten weeks stock comes in white, pink, red, Azure, Dark blue and creamy yellow. I mention stock here because of the confusion between Nicotiana (flowering tobacco).

A GOOD ANNUAL: Want something nice for a filler or "green" in floral arrangements? Then grow Snow-on-the-Mountain (Euphorbia variegata). It's not only ideal for bouquets, but makes a fine border plant, taking all kinds of weather and all types of soil. Self-sows readily. You can start seed directly outdoors or start them indoors and transplant out when shirt-sleeve weather rolls around.

WINTER DAMAGE: Have limbs on your evergreens turned yellowish, rusty, or brown from winter weather? This type of injury isn't due to winter cold, but rather from drying out, or desiccation. Nearly all of the midwinter browning of evergreen foliage is due to drying out of foliage.

Warm days cause plants to give off moisture faster than it can take it up from a dry soil. Moisture is lost from the tissues, and browning sets in. Suggestions: Trim off the browned areas and new growth will eventually fill in.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: E. D. of Marshalls Creek: "I have a Peace Climber rose two years old and it hasn't bloomed yet. Please tell me if it's a 'blind' rose and if I should pull it out."

Best I can say here is "Wait." It's characteristic of Peace Climbers NOT to bloom until the third year, and even then to produce sparse blooms. Peace Climber blossoms from growth coming from old wood, and it must be established in the garden long enough to produce these old canes.

Sometimes roses do produce "blind" growth — that is no blossoms, and the reason is not clear. They will make lush growth but fail to bloom. This may be due to improper pruning (pruning growth which produces buds), insect activity (especially the dreaded midge), cutting off too many flowers (and foliage), heavy shade, and disease, as well as winter injury. When a rose bush is killed back shoots produced by the understock come up and fail to bloom.

Even if canes are killed back to ground level you will get no blossoms. Sometimes blind growth is due to too much "vegetative" (leaf growth). Restricting the number of new canes by removing early in the growing season as buds start will help overcome blindness due to this cause.

K.E. of Stroudsburg: "We have a place in front of our home which will not grow flowers well. Is there anything we can do to keep it from looking bare?"

Try filling it in with Yew evergreens, tall ones on corners and spreading types under the windows. There are no flowering plants which will tolerate heavy shade, but if you have semi-shade try Balsam, Coleus, Lobelia, Impatiens, Pansy, Nicotiana, Petunia, Phacelia, Vinca, Viola, Azalea, Helleborus, Hosta, Forget-me-not, and the cornflower. Hardy ferns dug from the woods will fill in nicely, and you can also try the Hills-of-Snow hydrangea.

N.H. of Portland: "How can I kill wild morning glory? Last year this vine choked out our tomato plants."

There's no easy answer to this problem. Handpulling and hoeing constantly will keep it down, but the plant has great resiliency and

Dear Abby

Play It Dumb, Sweetie!

DEAR ABBY: I am a college sophomore and have recently started dating (steady) a college senior. He is a little on the shy side, and when he kissed me for the first time I thought he was kidding. Abby, he doesn't know the first thing about how to kiss a girl. Do you think I should try to teach him, or should I just wait and let him learn by himself? EXPERIENCED

DEAR EXPERIENCED: Let him learn by himself, unless you are willing to tell him where you became an expert.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to hire an "unattached" father to watch

TV with, and to be a father to my three active children under 15. We have everything money can buy. My husband is his own boss and doesn't work more than two hours a day. He leaves the house at 9 a.m. and never gets home before midnight. He says he loves us, but the makeup on his shirts is not mine.

I've tried everything to bring us closer together. I've seen our minister, a marriage counselor, and even a psychiatrist. They have helped me to bear it but the situation hasn't improved. My husband just keeps telling me how "wonderful" I am to put up with him. I suppose I should be ashamed to complain because there are worse problems than mine, but I'm feeling blue tonight.

LAST HOPE

DEAR LAST HOPE: Maybe you're too "wonderful." Just "bearing" a situation does not improve it. Something vital is missing at home or your husband wouldn't behave as he does. You can get the facts from your husband. Go after them and try to rebuild your marriage instead of learning how to live with loneliness.

DEAR ABBY: At a party for a "guest of honor," who should go home first? My husband said that it is bad manners for a guest to leave a party before the guest of honor. I say that when a party is given in honor of someone, that person certainly should not leave a house full of guests who have come to honor him. I would like you to settle this, please.

ARLINGTON

DEAR ARLINGTON: The guest of honor leaves first. That is the cue for the other guests to ask for their hats. And pronto!

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's BOOKLET, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 30 cents to Abby, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Think twice before setting anyone hear your private affairs or make a decision for you. Yes, accept good suggestions, heed experience, but also use your own intuition. Good work and outlook you will succeed.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Just when we wish all to go smoothly, we may suffer an unexpected hindrance to efforts. If you do not let this bother you, and do maintain a bright performance and outlook, you will succeed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Study characteristic of this day and of people you contact. Utilize the purest and best helpful in all. You can build for new attainment and stature.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Configurations somewhat less luminous than for days soon to come. Your imagination, joviality, all needed to pull day out of the doldrums. Up, front, and forward!

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — The wish will be present spreading where they will fall on fertile ground. Take a tip from the elderly and a hint from the young. Good work CAN be done without strain, worry.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Venus, your first ruling planet not on a top-favored list today. Against self-denial, strive, no need to compensate for missing aid. Aspire high, yet be not unreasonable. Care in finances.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — May be that today's best route is the slowest one. Refuse needless detours, distractions. Discussions. Prepare for a disconcerting hindrance to a busy, provocative work. Hold on to cheer.

Old Amish Lose Lights Bid

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Old Order Amish, Plain People who want no fuss or frills, yesterday lost their fight to keep bright lights off their buggies. The state Bureau of Traffic Safety, through Harold Pierce, chief of its Inspection Division, advised the Amish that the old-fashioned buggies must be equipped with bright red, flashing lamps for night driving. The Amish had asked for something "less gaudy," and suggested that a more subdued light, one that flowed rather than flashed would serve the purpose. Pierce told them it couldn't be done, that the original requirement would have to stand for the sake of traffic safety.

The Daily Investor

By William A. Doyle

Q. I am looking for income. And, from that point of view, Bethlehem Steel common stock looks very good. However, I realize that the stocks of most other steel companies provide much lower dividend yields. Have there been any rumors that this dividend might be reduced?

A. Yes, there have been many rumors on just that subject. As a matter of fact, this has been one of the hot topics in financial circles for some time. But, recently, this pessimistic talk has quieted down.

As this column goes through the typewriter, Bethlehem Steel common stock has a market price a shade below $43 a share. The "Bessie" dividend is at the rate of 60 cents every three months — or $2.40 a year. That results in a current yield of better than 5.6 percent.

Bessie has been paying that dividend since 1937. Before that, the dividend had been raised four years in a row. It was $1 in 1933. However, Bessie's profits have slipped quite a bit in recent years. In 1937 earnings were equal to $4.13 a common share. Per share earnings amounted to $2.91 in 1938; $2.44 in 1939, $2.52 in 1940 and $2.54 in 1941.

As you can see, the earnings were barely enough to cover the dividend payments in the past three years. Of course, Bessie has a good amount of cash on hand — from retained earnings in previous years.

An industrial company can't pay out all its earnings in dividends. It keeps some of that money and uses it for expansion, new equipment, research, etc.

Bessie did well in the early part of this year. Like most steel companies, it was very busy handling orders which poured in when it seemed that there might be a strike in the steel industry later in the year.

It seems unlikely that Bessie's current dividend rate will be cut in the immediate future. But, unless the company's earnings rise (or, at least, don't fall) many observers feel that the dividend might be cut at some future date.

Q. Hope you can answer this question. The local brokers have been unable or unwilling to tell me. How do the "no-load" mutual funds which sell their shares without any commission charge make any money? If there is no sales "load," why should anyone manage a mutual fund?

A. They make it the same way all mutual funds managers make money — out of the "management fee" which is charged to the fund.

The management fee is entirely different from the sales commission — or "load," as it is called. Each mutual fund has income — from dividends on stocks and interest on debt securities in which it has invested its shareholders' money. Out of this income the mutual fund pays a management fee and operating expenses.

For most mutual funds, the annual management fee amounts to 0.5 percent of the total assets. Some funds have lower fees.

The total annual expenses of mutual funds vary quite a bit. The lowest "expense ratio" on record is 0.17 percent. Others run up to one percent or higher. The average is about 0.65 percent. The larger mutual funds usually have lower expense ratios (percentage-wise) than the smaller funds.

Many will die. Among diseases, cancer is the number two killer of the Western world. But many more could be saved with proper education and help. A million Americans who had cancer have been cured. The American Cancer Society sponsors a three-pronged attack on cancer. It educates before cancer, rehabilitates after cancer, and helps during cancer. It also spends millions of dollars on research grants to find the cause and cure of cancer. Surely no one can deny the importance of this work. And once more the Society asks for your help in furthering this Crusade. Fight cancer with a checkup and a check. Mail your donation to CANCER, c/o your local post office.

As 42nd Birthday Present: Fights Downes In June

Sugar Ray Just Misses Getting New Title Shot

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson just missed getting another world title fight as a present for his soon-to-be 42nd birthday, his adviser disclosed Wednesday.

Instead the former welterweight and five-time middleweight king will have to celebrate with a fat purse for a 10-round bout with feathered Terry Downes in London in late June.

Cocky Cockney
If the cocky Cockney had retained his piece of the middleweight crown against Paul Pender last Saturday instead of losing it, Downes and Robinson would have fought for the title.

George Gainford, Robinson's adviser, and Sam Burns, Downes' manager, confirmed matchmaker Mickey Duff's announcement Tuesday that Robinson and the 25-year-old Downes have agreed in principle to the June clash in London. Some money matters still have to be ironed out.

"It would have been for the title all right," said Gainford. "That's why I was in Boston for the Pender-Downes fight. This will be real big in London anyway. Ray has a magic name overseas."

Leaves For Miami
Gainford said Robinson will leave Thursday morning by train for Miami, Fla., en route to a four-stop boxing tour of the Caribbean area and South America. He plans to be back in New York on May 2. After a rest he will start intensive training for the fight with Downes.

Robinson, who will be 42 on May 3 according to the record book, already has had 22 title fights in three divisions—welterweight (6), middleweight (15) and light heavyweight (1). The magnificent boxer-puncher was on the verge of taking the light heavyweight crown from Joey Maxim in 1952 when he collapsed in the 103-degree heat and couldn't come out for the 14th round.

42,000 Trout Are Placed In Monroe

SOME 42,000 fish were stocked in Monroe County waters, fish warden James F. Hazen reported yesterday after the pre-season program had been completed.

Hazen said the last stocking took place on Monday when 1200 brown and 800 rainbow trout were stocked in the Buckeye Creek. Also 1600 rainbow and 800 brown trout were distributed in the Big Bushkill Creek near Resica Falls. This is the stretch of river extending for six miles which has been designated for fly fishing.

The pre-season stocking covered some 114 miles of county streams and 13½ acres of trout waters.

Hazen also stated that the streams are being heavily patrolled until the opening day of fishing which is Saturday beginning 5 a.m.

Sportsmen's Maps
The Pennsylvania Fish Commission has announced the availability of sportsmen's Waters-Highway Maps, "Pennsylvania Fishes", and other publications which can be used in planning fishing trips in the Commonwealth.

According to Albert M. Day, executive director of the Commission, the Waters-Highway Maps, which include all counties of the Commonwealth except Philadelphia, are drawn on a two-mile-to-the-inch scale. There are 2 single county maps and 19 multiple county maps. The waters in the respective counties large enough to lend themselves to hook and line fishing are shown and named in blue. The highway system, including township roads, is shown in brown. Also shown in brown are a sufficient number of towns to guide the map user. State and federal lands are shown in green. These include state game lands, state parks and forests, national forests and Fish Commission holdings. The single county maps sell for 35 cents each and the multiple county maps sell for 50 cents each, plus sales tax.

A listing of public fishing and boating properties and facilities owned or leased by the Fish Commission is available free of charge. The leaflet lists the size and type of property and the facilities available.

All of these publications are available from the Conservation Education Division of the Fish Commission, South Office Building, Harrisburg.

Pascual Rips Pass A's In 8-0 Shutout

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Camilo Pascual baffled the Kansas City Athletics with his curve ball Wednesday night and the Minnesota Twins won their first game of the season with an 8-0 shutout.

The Cuban right-hander gave up only four hits, three of which were by Manny Jimenez, the A's rookie left fielder. Pascual struck out seven, walked one, and nipped one with a pitch.

Bob Allison, Dick Rollins and Earl Battey hit home runs for the Twins. Battey's was a two-run shot in the ninth when the Minn. stars scored four times off rookie Dan Osinski. Allison and Rollins hit solo shots off Bill Kunkel in the seventh and eighth innings. Kunkel had relieved starter John Wyatt, who pitched six innings and was saddled with the loss.

Johnson, German Inked For Match

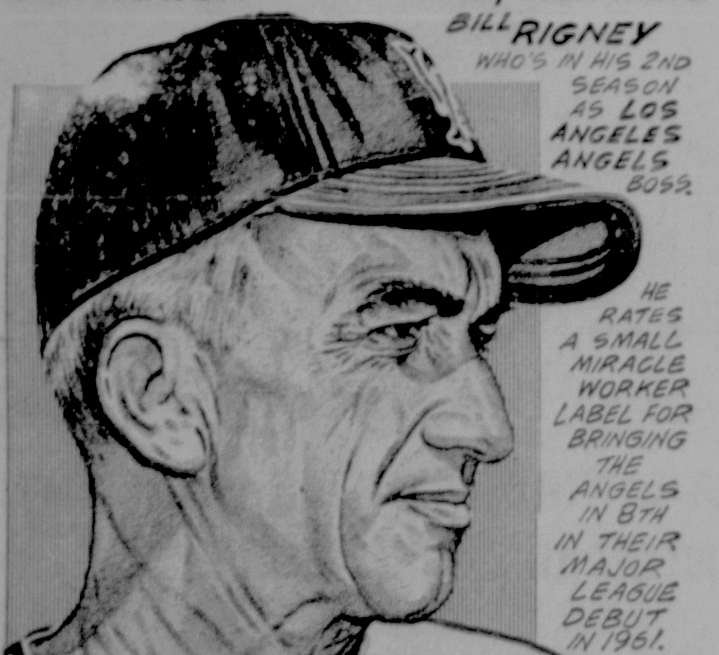

BERLIN (AP)—Boxing promoter Fritz Grotzschel displayed to the press has a signed contract, matching Berlin's Gustav (Bubi) Scholz and light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson in a June 15 title bout.

The promoter said Johnson will receive $50,000 for the fight and already has collected an advance of $3,500.

Johnson defends the title, recognized everywhere by California, where ancient Archie Moore is still recognized, against Doug Jones of New York May 12 in Philadelphia.

Grotzschel said if Jones should win he will try to get Jones for Scholz in Berlin in place of Johnson.

Warriors To Leave Phila., Report Says

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Unless owner Eddie Gottlieb has a change of heart within the next two weeks the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association are going to San Francisco.

Gottlieb verbally has agreed to sell the club, the Associated Press learned Wednesday. Although he still could have a change of heart it is doubtful.

A reliable source also told the AP that even if the Warriors are sold and moved to the West Coast, Gottlieb still will be in business here, either this year or next with an NBA franchise.

Gottlieb has been offered $850,000 for the Philadelphia franchise by Bernard Solomon, spokesman for a West Coast syndicate. Solomon is waiting for a final answer.

Although the source wouldn't elaborate on Gottlieb remaining in business, it has been reported the Syracuse Nationals may be switched to Philadelphia. Despite the fact Gottlieb faces a losing season financially this year, Philadelphia is considered a strong spot for the NBA.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Professional Billy Maxwell and a 15-year-old high school sophomore, Bob Kulp Jr., of Winston-Salem, shared the spotlight Wednesday in the pro-amateur tournament preceding the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open beginning Thursday.

Maxwell shot an 8-under-par 63 to lead the field of 50 pros and win $400 of the $4,000 pro jackpot.

Kulp came up with a hole-in-one that enabled his professional partner, left-hander Thorne Wood of Asheville, to win $320 as the pro member of the three-man team with the lowest best ball score. Wood shot par 71.

Kulp holed out with a 3-wood tee-shot on the third hole, a 244-yarder.

Maxwell shot 31-32 on the course which has a par of 36-35. Dave Marr, winner of the Azalea Open last week, was third with 66.

Two New PGA Courses Now Being Built

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla.—Construction of two new golf courses here for The Professional Golfers' Association of America is progressing very satisfactorily, Lou Strong, the PGA President, said today.

After an inspection of the site that is to become the new national home of the Association, Strong said, "We may even set a new speed record for golf-course construction."

Some $1,500,000 worth of heavy earth-moving equipment is roaring back and forth across the pinelands near the western outskirts of this 15,000-acre city on Florida's East Coast.

At Strong's side was John D. MacArthur, President of Bankers Life and Casualty Company, founder of the City and the man who is responsible for bringing The PGA of America to Palm Beach Gardens.

Without his interest and assistance, the move would have been impossible.

Work on the East Course, which is the longer of the two, measuring 6,600 yards from the middle tees, is well along. All necessary dirt is in place, and now final fillings and sloping are being carried out.

The Thompson River, created for drainage, is already flowing toward the sea, and drag-buckets are enlarging various areas to form picturesque lakes.

"Getting water off any golf course in a hurry is vital," says the noted architect who is creating the 36-hole layout, Dick Wilson of Delray Beach, Fla. "Here we shall have perfect drainage."

Most of the East Course holes have been formed, and now must come the built-in sprinkling system, application of topsoil and planting.

One of the East Course's dramatic holes will be the 18th, a 395-yard, par-four thriller.

Blame Yanks, Nervousness For Rookie's Poor Opener

BALTIMORE (AP)—Shed no tears for John (Boog) Powell, the huge rookie outfielder of the Baltimore Orioles.

The 6-foot-4, 240-pounder, who won the left field job with his booming bat in spring training, struck out three times and popped to the infield in his 1962 debut Tuesday.

But Powell had sympathizers. After all, here was 20-year-old kid with experience in only four major league games playing in his first opener—in imposing Yankee Stadium and against Whitey Ford, Toastmaster for event will be Joe Whalen, maestro of radio station WVO. Bill Johnson, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce heads the Brite Star committee for this year. He will be assisted by Gene Nicolais, Tony Ciccone, Robert Clark and yours truly.

Brite Cleaners sponsors the yearly event.

WHO KNOWS . . . . . An elderly gentleman, wearing dark glasses a blue suit and a puzzled look, stopped me to ask some questions.

I had just finished affirming several queries when he brought forth another:

"What active baseball umpire in this area," he asked, "holds the longest record for service?"

I did not have to give a reply. My glum expression provided the answer for him.

He promptly stomped his cane on my foot and wandered — homeward.

Could someone supply me an answer to this just in case the stranger appears again?

ON THE MOVE . . . . . Stephen Matos, efficacious secretary of the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce has come up with a new slogan for the borough.

It may not be official as yet, but Matos hails Delaware Water Gap as: "Gateway to the proposed Delaware Water Gap National Park."

Matos is also instrumental in the sporting events at the village and reported that the fifth annual Water Gap Regatta is set for June 2 and 3.

Over 160 contestants are slated to vie for over 50 trophies in nine classes of outboard boats. Sponsored by the DWG Chamber of Commerce, it is the biggest event of its kind in the Pocono Mt. area. Top-named boat enthusiasts from the Eastern coast and Canada compete in the event.

WELL, DONE — The artistic beauty of the Pocono Mountain golf courses along with a comprehensive story of the 30 courses, grace the pages of Golf Magazine's May issue.

The report, penned by Curt Prins, former Sports Editor of The Daily Record, rates the Pocono area as one of the leading golfing havens on the Eastern coast.

Beautiful colored photos, as well as a map depicting the locations of the various establishments, are included in well-founded announcement. Also among the art work is the undulating terrain which encompasses the courses and a scene of the "Flaming Foliage" which blends in nicely with Autumn-time golfing.

The article is a must reading for the people of the Poconos, but more so for all its golfers and owners of the courses.

Carroll Hardy's Grand Slam Gives Bosox 4-0 Win In 12th

BOSTON (AP) — Carroll Hardy broke up a magnificent pitching duel with a grand slam home run in the 12th inning Wednesday for a 4-0 Boston Red Sox victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Hardy, who battled his way into a starting outfield berth this spring, hit rookie Ron Taylor's first pitch into the left field screen with none out in the third extra inning.

Carl Yastrzemski had tripled to open the 12th and Indian Manager Mel McGaha chose to have Taylor walk Frank Malone and Russ Nixon intentionally, filling the bases.

It was the third hit of the game for Hardy, a former Indian, now playing right field for the Red Sox.

The homer gave Boston its first runs of the season, Cleveland blanked the Sox by the same score in their Tuesday opener.

Right-hander Bill Monbouquette went all the way while hurling one of his finest games ever. The 25-year-old Medford, Mass., pitcher allowed only one hit over the first nine innings and gave up only four in all, two to pitcher Taylor.

Taylor, 24, pitched nearly as brilliantly. Promoted from the Salt Lake City roster only five days ago, he issued five hits over the regulation nine innings and a total of 10.

Doublebill At Nazareth Stock Races

NAZARETH Speedway, which last Sunday had its greatest opening day in its 11-year history, will be blazing with another double-header stock car race program this Sunday, 2:15 p.m., when the fleet drivers from along the Atlantic Seaboard return in droves.

On opening day there were 101 stock cars in action — and these included both the modified-sportsman and limited sportsman divisions — and when the last race had been run the No. 1 pilot was the 1961 defending champion, Al Tasnady, Vineland, N.J.

Tasnady's sensational win, coming after a hard battle with Riegelsville's Ken Wismer, showed that the sleek No. 44 is ready for business with a bang. Tasnady was clocked at 28.6 seconds on a slick track, and his driving was rugged when he went through the pack.

The race show this Sunday will have the modified-sportsman drivers from New York, New Jersey, Florida and Pennsylvania barging into action with a 25-lap feature after four qualifying heats. The limited sportsman will be seen in heats as well as a feature event.

Two special highlights will include Free Stock Car rides to all Boys and Girls during the afternoon and presentation of 1961 Awards to the Top Ten Owners and Drivers.

The Nazareth track, which will be in its top form this week after a steady checkover by the grounds crew, has added new concrete safety walls along the back stretch and hopes to have an additional 1,000 seats available before too long.

Arnie, Dow Among 120 In The Rich Greensboro Open

By KEN ALYTA
GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Headed by Masters playoff rivals Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open, richest golf tournament ever held in North Carolina, opens Thursday with a field of about 120.

The 4-day, 72-hole tourney offers a $5,300 purse to the winner of its 22nd staging, although the event is being billed as the silver anniversary renewal in view of its 1938 start. Two World War II years were skipped.

Gary Player, third member of the Masters playoff earlier in the week, passed up the tournament to return to his home in South Africa where his wife is expecting their third child.

The purse, $12,500 more than last year's, has attracted the finest field a GGO has boasted in several years.

Eleven of the top 17 money winners of the year and 24 of the 40 leaders are here, to match birdies and pars over the par 71 Sedgewick Country Club course which can be lengthened to about 7,000 yards.

Mike Souchak is defending champion in a field that includes five other former winners, headed by seven-time champ Sam Snead, Finsterwald, Bob Goalby, Stan Leonard and Doug Ford are the others.

Other officers elected are:

Warren Pfost, Monroeville recreation director, vice president; Joseph Cardenuto, extension recreation specialist of Penn State University, secretary; and Rodney Mott, of International House, Philadelphia, treasurer.

About 100 delegates are attending the meeting.

MATERIAL Control wrapped up second half honors with a 4-0 sweep of the Draftsmen behind Bill Stone's 210-578. Harry Shields topped the blueprinters with a steady 533.

Test Floor whacked the Engineers for four and gained second place, as average king Pat Neffue finished going away with a 236-611. John Sibley tossed a 529 for the losers.

Shop ran into a tough Outside Gang and dropped to third after a 3-1 whaling. Herb Haney and Bill Metzger rolled 201-563 and 202-563 respectively, to pace the Gang, as Bill Hay's 527 fell short for Shop.

The Welders hit good wood in blanking Office, supporting Russ Pritchard's 209-550 with three other fives. The Jockeys were unable to muster a 500 on a tough night.

High Five — Second Half
Pat Neffue 182-22
Bill Stone 177-13
Frank McNamara 174-37
Dayt Martz 171-21

Corvair 95—only pickup with side-loading ramp.

Fleetside pickup—most popular Chevrolet truck.

Depend on it to give you an honest day's work for a long, long time and not cost much to run or keep up. It's a Chevrolet.

Trucks aren't all alike. This Chevrolet has double-wall roof, doors and side panels. It has suspension that helps it last longer by reducing road shock. It has a non-skid wood body floor. It has as tough a tailgate as you'll find. It has an all-welded frame made of high-quality steel. Most important, it has a name everybody respects because they know it stands for quality. When you make up your mind to buy, get this one. We know you'll be happy with it.

Have you looked into camper bodies? This is a fine way to enjoy the outdoors comfortably and at low cost. You can drive and park them nearly anywhere. There are lots of other advantages too! Many Chevrolet dealers are showing camper units now. Drop by and investigate this great way to make a truck do double duty. A strong Chevrolet is your best bet for work or play.

See your Chevrolet dealer for trucks that keep working and working and working and working!
